

If These Walls Could Talk

ALAN
FLETCHER
CONSTRUCTION, INC.

If these walls could talk...

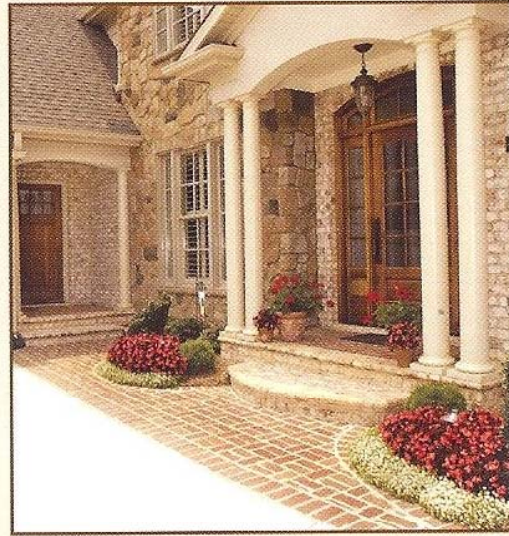

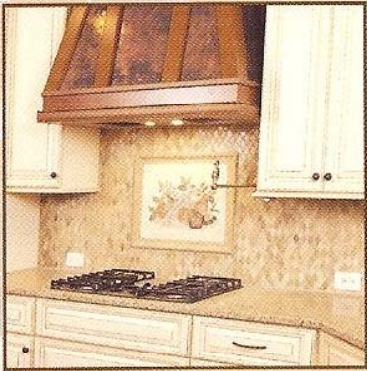

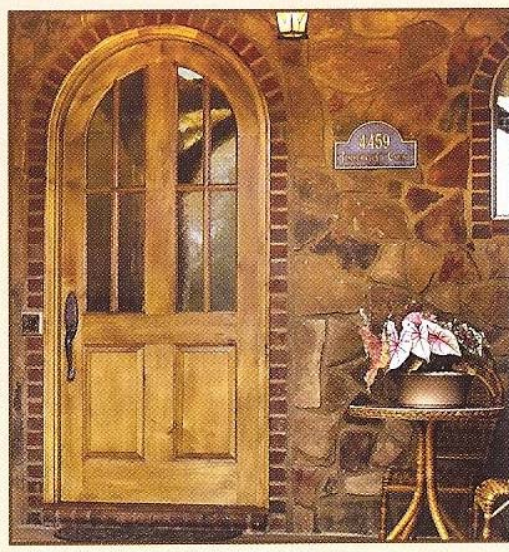

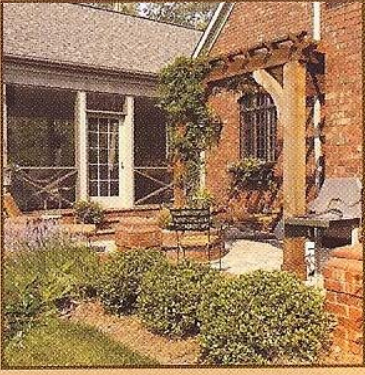

They would tell you the story of imagination and creation.

They would declare their pride in being an integral part of the quality that allows a home to endure the test of time.

They would speak about finding profound pleasure in creating a magnificent home.

But these walls don't talk...

They sing!

"We had no idea how to build a house, so we were set on obtaining somebody whose reputation was rock solid. Alan's knowledge and professionalism, along with the subcontractors', were second to none."

—Bruce and Gwen

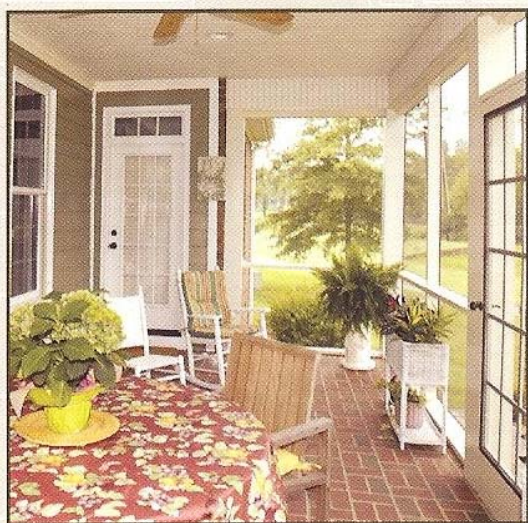

"It was truly a pleasure working with Alan Fletcher Construction during the building of our new home. The professionalism was refreshing in a time when that characteristic is rare. The commitment to quality is evidenced by our beautiful, well-built home."

—Don and Lisa

If these walls could talk...

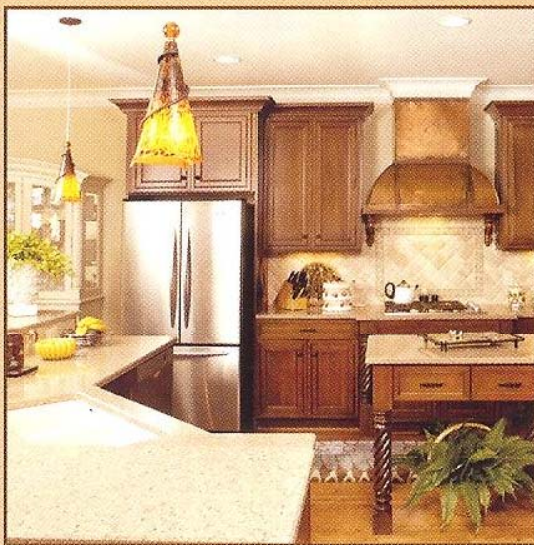

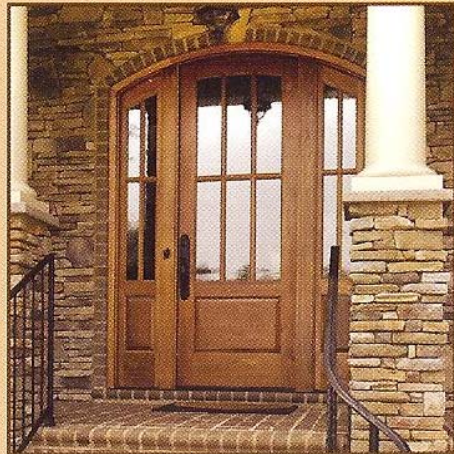

They would boast about some of the industry's leading craftsmen weaving their talents to create fine homes throughout the area. Alan Fletcher Construction draws together artisans with one common bond: The quest to surpass their clients' expectations. Yours will be a home whose hallmarks are exceptional creativity and beauty—a home created from the heart through collaboration among visionaries and artists.

“Alan played an important part in all our decision-making, from choosing our lot, placement of the house and all phases of construction through completion. I liked knowing Alan would visit our jobsite on a daily basis, allowing the opportunity for us to meet with him if necessary.”

—Mike and Virginia

“Construction began in December on the day Alan said it would. The home was completed in July just as Alan also said. We can honestly say those were the seven happiest months in our lives. Everything went so smoothly.”

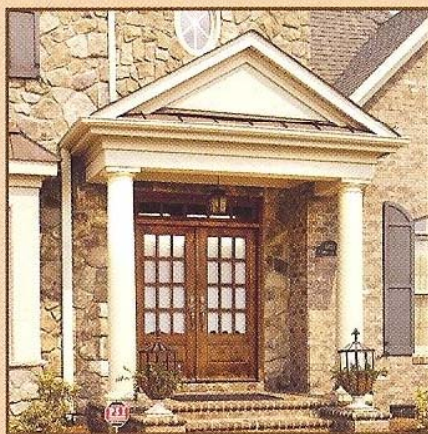

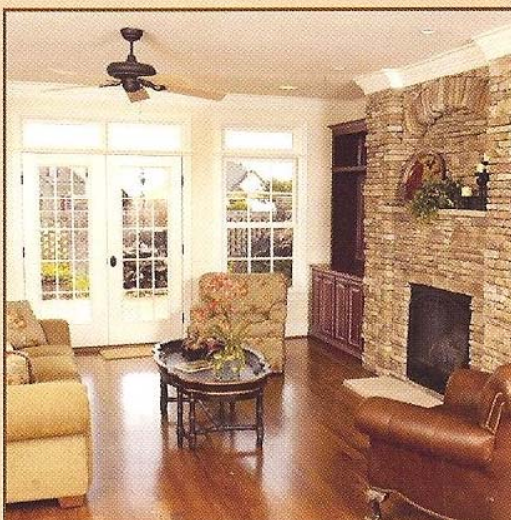

—Lester and Sylvia

“During construction, Alan was always available to answer our questions. He was on the jobsite daily, checking every detail. We would often make afternoon visits to examine the progress, and we always noticed how clean and neat the jobsite was.”

—Liz and Tom

“Since it was our first custom-built home, we were most cautious about how our investment would deliver maximum results. We believe we received far more in quality than we expended in costs. Alan selected only the finest materials and fashioned them into a beautiful home.”

—Pastor Rinn

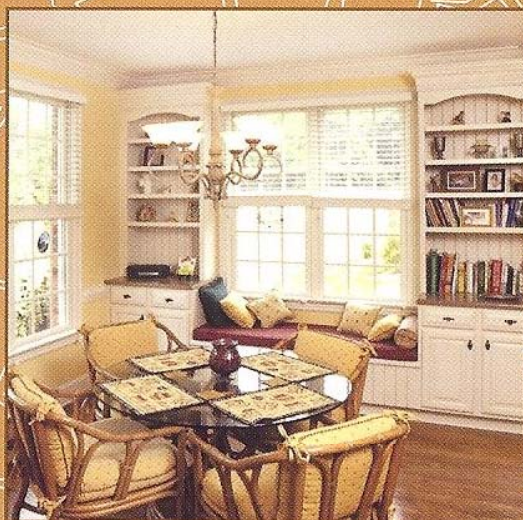

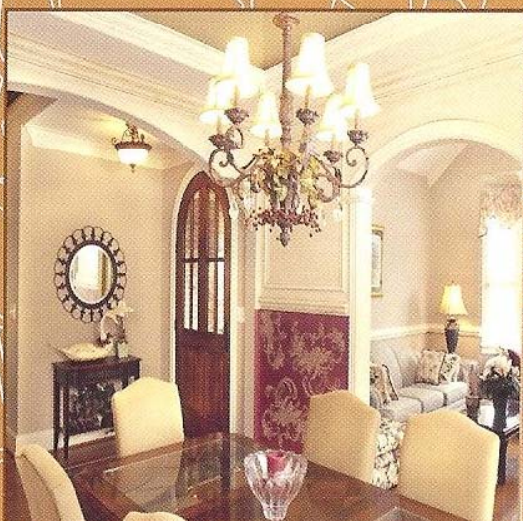

"Not only did Alan Fletcher Construction build me a beautiful home, but they also did it on time and within budget; No small feat in a world of uncertainty."

—Susan

If these walls could talk...

They would command respect. That is at the core of Alan Fletcher Construction. Alan respects the process of building a home of enduring quality, selecting the most dependable building products and assembling an accomplished team of talented subcontractors. Your home-building team shares and honors Alan's commitment to quality. The result is a home that is a testament to timeless elegance and longevity.

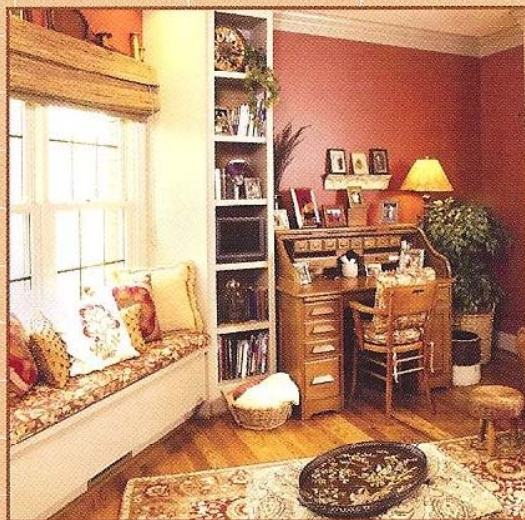

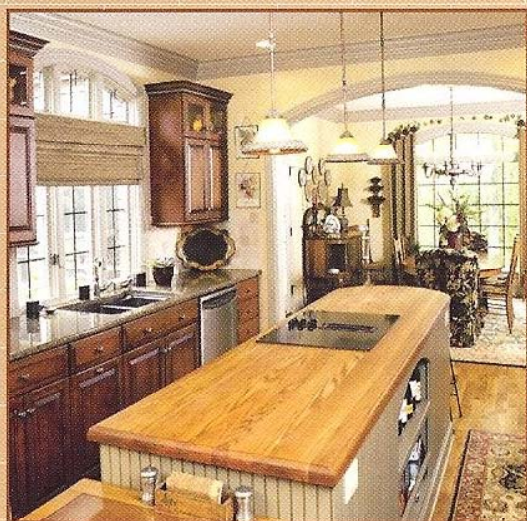

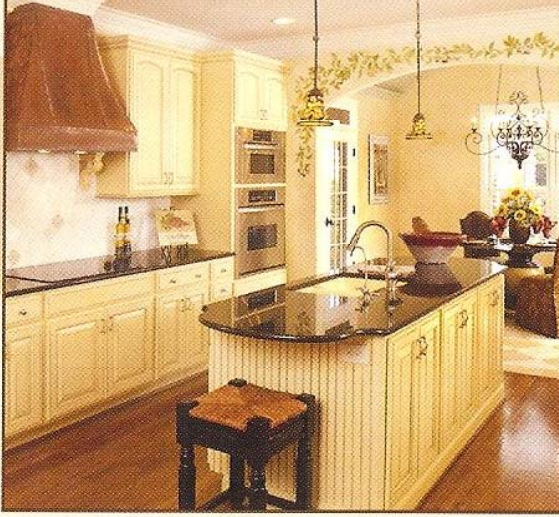

"Alan is a hands-on builder who is on the jobsite almost every day. He demands high standards of quality, makes changes when necessary, uses technological innovations, resolves issues fairly, stays on schedule and manages cost effectively."

Dave and Molly

If these walls could talk...

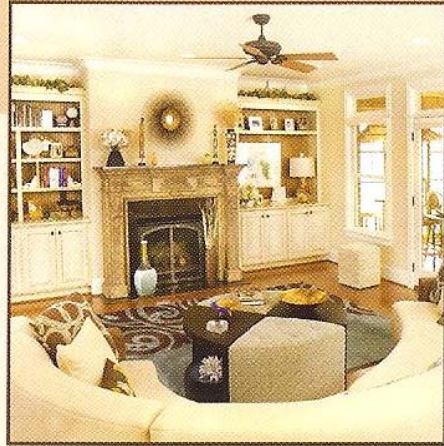

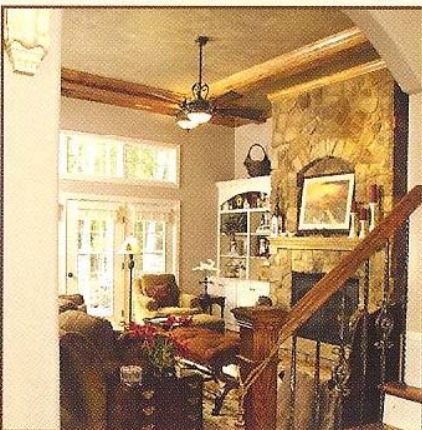

They would express their delight. Simply put, building a home should just be fun. From day one, you will know precisely what is going on throughout the building process, from the status of construction to the excitement of moving day. Alan Fletcher Construction will engage you in the design and function of your home, providing alternative ideas and options along the way. You get exactly what you want—exactly the way you want it. The efficiency and reliability of the whole building team eliminates the uncertainty and apprehension typically associated with building or purchasing a new home.

Honoring three generations of family tradition, Alan Fletcher entered the construction industry in 1980. As the namesake of the company, he founded Alan Fletcher Construction in 1987. He has earned respect from his peers within the industry, and his work has received awards from the local homebuilders' association.

Alan has delighted new homebuyers for three decades with creative design solutions, product innovation, fine craftsmanship and meticulous attention to detail. His inspiration to build unique and diverse custom homes comes from listening to you and your ideas about the home you want to create. With a sincere commitment to homeowners' satisfaction, Alan can be found on the job site daily, available for client walk throughs. Any questions or concerns are addressed quickly.

Every home must have a plan. Alan Fletcher Construction will help you develop a home design that is practical, yet uniquely "you." From there you will receive a well-planned schedule of events detailing the process of construction all the way through the date of completion. Known for its reliability, Alan Fletcher Construction has never missed a scheduled closing. Team up with Alan Fletcher Construction for your ultimate home-building experience.

What's your plan?

336-924-4651

www.alanfletcherhomes.com